

Dear Parents / Guardians,

Can you please ensure that students have signed up for codes for “Edmodo” groups and are checking emails and other learning platforms. The majority of students are engaging but a small number have not logged in or are not completing work given.

It is important to note that teachers will use different methods to assign work and to engage with students depending on teacher and subjects. What is important is that the learning journey continues as best it can under the circumstances.

Kind regards

Michael O Sullivan
